Forest Hill Comes Pahokee Tonight

Forest Hill high school of West Palm Beach will send their gridiron eleven to Pahokee tonight to do battle with the Blue Devils and the local aggregation will be looking for the first win of the season.

Coach Pell says that his boys are in fairly good condition for tonight's battle, having recovered from the shock of a one-point defeat last week at the hands of the Vero Beach squad in that city. The score was 13-12.

The local aggregation lost their opener two weeks ago to the Clewiston eleven.

The Pahokee high school band will strut tonight between halves to the pleasure of all who attend the football contest. Under the direction of Robert O. Lampi the local musical aggregation will again draw favorable comment from those who watch them in action.

Nancy Harrington State 4-H Winner

Nancy Harrington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roswell Harrington of Canal Point and a junior in Pahokee high school, has been declared winner of first place on records in entomology (insect study) in 4-H Club work in Palm Beach county. The award was announced Wednesday by County Agent M. U. Mounts at a 4-H Leader Training Session at Mounts Agricultural Center in West Palm Beach.

In the State of Florida there are 47,000 4-H Club members, from 10 to 19, and there are 1,000 of these in Palm Beach county, the agent pointed out. They keep records of projects and other activities to prepare for business as adults. Records become elaborate after several years.

Miss Harrington won a trip to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago to be held Nov. 28 to Dec. 3. She has been in 4-H Club work for six years and has been a Junior Leader for two years. She has completed 27 projects in 10 areas. Her interest in entomology began through a film shown on entomology by Associate County Agent John Causey at a 4-H Club meeting. She plans to attend college following completion of her high school course at Pahokee High School.

Sugar Relief By Vote In U. S. Senate

WASHINGTON — The Senate Wednesday voted 37 to 23 to give domestic sugar growers additional marketing allotments of 500,000 tons during the remainder of the current years.

The vote, coming after a sharp and bitter debate, tacked the provision onto a House-passed tariff bill. The sugar amendment's fate, when it goes back to the House, is highly uncertain, however.

The result was a victory for U. S. beet and cane sugar producers and a defeat for refiners and industrial users who oppose the amendment.

Its backers argued that the amendment is only fair to give a break to American growers because they had stepped up their production sharply last year to help meet an international sugar shortage.

But opponents insisted that the amendment would mean higher (continued on page 8)

Pure Oil Building New Service Station

A new Pure Oil Service Station and Bulk plant is going up in Pahokee immediately north and to the rear of the present Pure Oil Station operated by F. E. Gillis. The B&M Construction Company of Mulberry, Fla., is the contractor and the price of the new facility is said to be $33,000.

John E. Wilson, Pure Oil distributor, said yesterday that a bulk plant will be erected in connection with the new and modern service station which will have three bays and will be covered by porcelain on three sides.

Mr. Wilson has been the Pure Oil distributor in Pahokee for the past 23 years and in more recent years has taken on the Pure Oil distributorship in Belle Glade where a modern plant is already in operation.

Mr. Wilson said that present plans call for completion of the entire structure ready for operation within 90 days. The building formerly used as an office for the bulk plant has been moved across the street and will be made into a modern residence. When the new station is ready for operation the present station will be torn down.

State Road Dept. Is Asked Aid On Road

Looking ahead to the coming cane harvest and jammed up traffic on Glades highways, Commissioner Paul Rardin and Commissioner elect "Bud" Weaver asked the county board to re-design the intersection of Duda Road and State Road 80.

Rardin asked that a quarter clover leaf be built at the intersection which would help move heavy truck traffic at the junction of the two roads.

Rardin told the board that he and Mr. Weaver had discussed the proposed improvement in an on-the-spot meeting a few days ago.

The commission gave approval to Rardin's request and instructed the county engineering department to coordinate completion of the proposed road change with the State Road Department in advance of the cane cutting season which is only weeks away.

Tuesday night members of the Adult Department of the Canal Point Baptist Church attended an "Adult Thrust" banquet in the recreation room of the church. Guests entering the reception area were greeted by an array of pink and blue decorations.

Sweet corn leads the area in dollar value, although celery producers shipped more total carloads of their produce.

Sweet corn accounted for $15,889,758 of the area economy as compared to $15,688,390 for celery.

In carload shipments, there were 9,969 of celery and 8,461 of sweet corn.

Here Is What Transpired At Monday's Meeting Of The Palm Beach County Commission

County Commissioners this week are studying the feasibility of procuring a county-wide contour map which would provide a flood protection plan for the area.

Preparation of the map was offered by the engineering firm of Adair and Brady of Lake Worth. John Adair, Jr., told the commission that the firm, over the years, has gathered a vast amount of data and statistics which could be placed on a map that would be valuable in determining minimum elevations for buildings, assist in drafting building and zoning regulations and would serve as an aid for secondary drainage programs.

The commission referred Adair's proposal to the directors of the county health department, zoning and engineering for study, comment and report back to the board.

A change in meeting times and dates for the county commission was revised again Monday.

A week ago, the commission voted to stick to having regular meetings on the second and fourth Mondays of the month with administrative meetings on the alternate Mondays.

This week the board voted to hold regular meetings every Monday and set the starting time at 9:30 a. m.

The terrific response to a Kids Day program held last weekend at International Airport has the county commission eyeing the possibility of helping stage similar shows in the future.

The event, which featured a display of current military aircraft, was sponsored by the Downtown Kiwanis Club of West Palm Beach and drew upwards of 7,000 young visitors.

Commissioner E. F. Van Kessel suggested Monday that the board work closely with civic clubs in the future in the hope that shows of this type could be presented more frequently. The commissioner complimented the Civil Air Patrol, sheriff's Dept. and the county's airport staff for the manner in which crowds and traffic was handled.

the large find of old pieces might depress the market value of these coins, but Florida is going to do its part to prevent that by preserving its share as historical artifacts and not sell them.

Some of the treasure, like a nine pound disc of silver that was recovered, is not minted, but most had been formed into coins.

Artifacts brought up from the underwater site include many objects of archaeological value. Many metal objects are thickly encrusted with a coral-like substance. The wooded Spanish vessels carried smooth ballast stones which frequently mark wreck sites in Florida coastal waters and could—and sometimes do—lead skin divers to more sunken treasure when they are discovered.

Florida's treasure hunters, I'm glad to say, are very cooperative. They are interested in the treasure, which is of course important to them, but also they are interested in history. Some have traveled to Spain to check historic records for the names of vessels, their cargo, and the size of their crews.

Searchers are exploring the floor of the Gulf of Mexico as well as in the Atlantic. Most of the treasure has come from Spanish ships, believed victim of hurricanes of the early 1700's, but some U. S. gold from a Confederate vessel has also been salvaged.

I have heard estimates that nearly $400 million worth of gold and silver sank with doomed Spanish ships en route from the New World to Spain. We are almost certain to see an increase in treasure hunting. There will be adventure, and perhaps profit for some, but to Florida this search will turn up lost pages in our early history, and provide a wealth of artifacts to supply our state museums for all to see and enjoy.

Miss Lynda Keene Crowned GA Queen

Miss Lynda Keene was crowned "Queen" of the Girls Auxiliary of the Pahokee First Baptist Sunday night in an impressive candle light ceremony. Miss Keene chose as her flower girl, Susan Johnson, and her crown bearer was Jeff Johnson.

Candlelighters were Ginger Willis and Beverly Wilkinson. Prior to the coronation services Julie Unwin sang "The Golden Key." Counselors for the Junior G. A. are Mrs. David Unwin and Mrs. Don Collier. Intermediate Counselor is Mrs. Lois White. Reviewing Council is composed of Mrs. Mrs. Horace Unwin, Mrs. E. B. Gamble, Mrs. Joe Thompson and Mrs. Wiley Tillis.

Inland Waterway Scored For Actions

A weekned sale of 22 acres of Inland Waterway land to a Neamanian for a reported $75,000 brought on a blast against the Florida Inland Navigation District Monday from County Commissioner Lake Lytal.

Lytal noted the details of the sale at the county board meeting, saying that the county's request that FIND hold up sale of the land had been ignored.

Lytal said the county might have purchased the land — needed for expansion of county recreational facilities—if the FIND commissioners had heeded the county's request.

"It's a crime, almost," Lytal said, "that 22 acres of the inland waterways is forever barred from use for public recreation."

Lytal indicated that a check of FIND operations, sources of revenue and expenditures is now underway and that a report on the check will be made at a future commission meeting.

In July, 1715, eleven Spanish galleons, richly laden with gold, silver and other precious articles, were caught up in the fury of a hurricane in the Atlantic off of what is now Fort Pierce. Ten of the ships were destroyed, and took their treasure to the ocean floor.

Much of that treasure, and that from many other vessels, still rests on the ocean bottom today, but a private concern working under a lease from the State of Florida is systematically carrying on salvage operations on this fleet. One-fourth of their find goes to the State.

This is how Florida manages treasure hunting off her shores. Salvage leases are granted by the State Cabinet serving as Trustees of the Internal Improvement Fund to single individuals, firms or corporations. They first take out an exploratory lease to search for off-shore wrecks. When a wreck is located an exclusive lease is granted giving the holder the sole right to salvage at the particular site designated.

Florida's share of the fabulous treasure recovered off of Fort Pierce to date was recently displayed in Tallahassee.

It included ornate gold necklaces of intricately woven design. Much of the treasure trove is in gold coins called escudos. Eight escudo pieces, worth about sixteen dollars at the time they were lost 250 years ago, are much more valuable on today's rare coin market. It is feared by some that

Design New Building Ringling Museums

SARASOTA — The Board of Trustees of the Ringling Museums at a meeting held in Sarasota commissioned the Tampa architectural firm of Fletcher & Valenti to design the projected new administration building and galleries which will be added to the present museum complex.

In making the announcement, Ringling board chairman, Carl Brorein, Jr., stated that the trustees had been interviewing Florida west coast architects for several months prior to the final selection which has been approved by the Board of State Commissioners in Tallahassee.

The state appropriated $25,000 for the planning and design of the new building during the last legislative session.

Record Catches In Schlitz Fish Contest

TAMPA — Fishermen in Florida hauled in 1,389 fish worth $44,850 during the Jos Schlitz Brewing Company's fourth annual 1964 Florida Fishing Derby.

Final tabulation of the statewide event, conducted by the State Board of Conservation and the State Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, raised to $245,000 the total cash awarded to sportsmen since the brewing company founded the derby in 1961.

None of the four $10,000 fish tagged and released for the 1964 derby were caught. Awards were paid, however for six $1,000 fish, for 31 worth $100 each, 40 worth $50 apiece, and 1,310 with $25 tags.

Of the catches returned through Schlitz wholesalers to the state agencies for research data in their studies of fish habits, movements, growth, and longevity, the total was divided almost equally between fresh and salt water varieties.

Information obtained in the studies is being used in continued improvement of Florida fishing opportunities.

New Record Set Phosphate Loading

TAMPA — The Seaboard Airline Railroad's phosphate loading elevator in the heart of Tampa Port's inner harbor, set a new record for phosphate tonnage loaded in one month, August saw 345,300 tons of phosphate loaded aboard vessels from all over the world.

At present, the loading operation is going on at such a fast pace that a new building, constructed to house the main office of the plant, remains vacant simply because there hasn't been a quiet moment in which to move in.

The elevator now in use loads about 1,500 tons of phosphate per hour. It is the third elevator to occupy the Seaboard docks. The first began operation in 1908, loading about 250 tons per hour. Then, in 1913, a second elevator took over with a capacity of 600 tons per hour. Finally, in 1947, the present facility was installed and brought the loading rate up to its current 1,500 tons per hour.

Busy Session For P. B. County Board

The county commission learned this week that further action on a proposed moving of I-95 and Monet Road interchange rests now with officials of the Radio Corporation of America.

RCA previously requested that the planned interchange be moved farther north so as not to block expansion of the firm's Palm Beach Gardens plant.

County Engineer George Frost said a meeting at Tallahassee last week attended by county, state, and federal representatives resulted in plans to move the interchange north; deadend the present Monet Road at I-95 and to study plans for building a new service road to help control traffic at the RCA plant. Frost told the commission little action could be taken until results of the Tallahassee meeting are approved by RCA.

In other business this week the commission: Named the new community building at Boca Raton as the official polling place for precincts 207 and 212.

Took under study, a request from a Lake Worth Boy Scout troop to build a rifle range on county owned land.

Authorized preparation of right of way maps for changing the route of 45th street in West Palm Beach to eliminate a pair of sharp reverse curves.

Heard that a dedication ceremony is set for Oct. 5 at Stuart in observance of finishing the last stretch of four laning U. S. Highway 1 down through the state.

Heard that work on a new road to Alamanda School is being delayed awaiting approval of plans by the Municipality of Palm Beach Gardens. The work has tentative approval of the community of North Palm Beach and the County School Board.

Referred a rail crossing agreement between the Seaboard Railroad and Palm Beach County to the board's legal department for further negotiation.

Gave tentative agreement for future four-laning of Congress Ave., providing the work is done on the present right of way.

Heard further complaints of low flying planes in the area of International Airport from a resident of Elizabeth Street. Airport Director Frank Sakser was instructed to check the complaint and report back to the board.

A message from the Treasury of a free people

How to speak out for freedom today

Free men have never gone in much for silence. Even before the first thirteen States became United States, men were speaking for freedom loud and clear.

Today Americans speak out for freedom many ways—in Congress, in local government, in neighborhood activities. Some speak out for freedom in other languages, in other lands. And millions of Americans speak out for freedom every time they buy U.S. Savings Bonds.

Every Savings Bond you buy is an investment in freedom. While you're saving money for your own family's future, you're helping Uncle Sam tend to the business of keeping men free today.

Perhaps you don't speak out for freedom in the same tone of voice when you buy a Bond as Patrick Henry did in his famous speech. But you speak every bit as surely. And every bit as proudly.

Why not speak out for freedom now? Buy Bonds at the bank or on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

Keep freedom in your future with

New $3\frac{3}{4}\%$ interest on U.S. Savings Bonds

The Treasury explains why the new ones you buy and the ones you own now are better than ever

Q: How does the new $3\frac{3}{4}\%$ interest rate benefit me?

A: With Series E Bonds, the rate turns $18.75 into $25.00 fourteen months faster than the old rate. Your savings increase faster, because your Bonds mature in just 7 years, 9 months.

With Series H Bonds, the 10-year maturity period stays the same but more interest is paid you each six months. With both E and H Bonds the new rate works out to $2\frac{1}{4}\%$ for the first year and a half; then a guaranteed 4% each year to maturity.

Q: When did the new rate become effective?

A: June 1, 1959.

Q: Does the new rate change the Bonds I bought before June 1, 1959?

A: All older E and H Bonds pay more now—an extra $\frac{1}{8}\%$ from now on, when held to maturity. The increase takes effect in the first full interest period after June 1.

Q: Will the Bonds I own automatically earn their new rate?

A: Yes. You don't need to do a thing—just hold on to your Bonds.

Q: When my E Bonds mature, will they keep on earning interest?

A: Yes. An automatic 10-year extension privilege went into effect along with the new interest rate. This means your E Bonds will automatically keep earning interest after maturity.

Q: With the new interest rate, should I cash in my old Bonds and buy new ones?

A: No. The automatic $\frac{1}{8}\%$ increase makes it unnecessary—and in almost every case it is to your advantage to retain your present Bonds.

Q: How are series H Bonds different from series E Bonds?

A: The chief difference is this: You buy H Bonds at full face value and the interest is paid by Treasury check every six months for the life of the Bond. You buy E Bonds at 75% of face value and the interest accumulates to maturity. H Bonds provide income for living expenses, while E Bonds build a nest egg for the future. That's why many retired people hold H Bonds and families saving for, say, a child's education, buy E Bonds.

Q: In what denominations can I buy series E and series H Bonds?

A: E Bonds: $25 (cost $18.75), $50 (cost $37.50), $100 (cost $75.00), $200 (cost $150.00), $500 (cost $375.00), $1,000 (cost $750.00), $10,000 (cost $7,500.00).

H Bonds: $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000. They are priced at face value.

Q: How safe are U.S. Savings Bonds?

A: Savings Bonds are an absolutely riskless way to save. The United States Government guarantees the cash value of your Bonds will not drop, that it can only grow.

Q: What if my Bonds should be lost, stolen or destroyed?

A: You can't lose. Every Bond purchased is recorded by the Treasury. If anything happens to your Bonds they are replaced—free.

Q: Where can I buy Bonds?

A: Buy E Bonds at any bank—it takes only a few minutes. Buy them automatically through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. This Plan means you can have any amount you name automatically deducted every payday. The Bonds you buy by installments are delivered to you automatically, too. Your bank will take your order for H Bonds.

Q: How do I help strengthen America's peace power when I buy U.S. Savings Bonds?

A: Peace costs money—and you can help pay for it. Every dollar you save in U.S. Savings Bonds helps keep our economy sound.

Rats are costly pests and a menace to human health.

It is estimated that a rat eats about $5 worth of food a year and contaminates 10 times that much.

One authority estimates the annual loss to rats in the U. S. runs between 2 1/2 and 4 1/2 Billion dollars, or about equal to the production from 100,000 farms.

Besides being costly, rats are the cause of more human deaths than anything else. Disease spread by rats, it is said, has killed more people than all the wars in history. In a fascinating book published in 1935, with the not-so-fascinating title of "Rats, Lice and History," the author, Hans Zinsser, notes that rats are more like humans in many respects than any other animal. Among their human traits is their inclination to make war on their own kind, and to kill for sport.

As I recall it, he states that wherever human population is concentrated, as in cities, towns and villages, the rat population will equal that of the humans.

It is on farms where rats do a great deal of their damage. But how is a farmer to know whether his buildings contain only a few or a large number of rats?

One method suggested for determining rat numbers suggests: If you see only one rat occasionally at night, the total number may run between 50 and 100. Rats seen every night and one occasionally in the daytime means their numbers are probably 100 to 500. Rats seen every day in the daytime means there are over 500 around.

Latest development in rat exterminating products which I've noted recently is a new chemical bait which the maker claims kills ONLY rats and no other animals, not even mice. Two of the leading national agricultural magazines, Progressive Farmer and Farm Journal, contain announcement ads and stories in their September issues.

Supermarket News, in its story about the new product comments it is said to be "fast acting, potent and inexpensive. The rat-killer comes in a 1-ounce package, said to be sufficient to kill 10 rats," the food trade publication adds, and is "to retail at $1.98."

At a glance that doesn't sound very inexpensive until you go back to the figures on estimates of rat damage. If 10 rats damage $50 worth of food and contaminate another $500 worth in a year, how much is it worth to wipe them out?

If it's the "world's largest" it's usually worth nothing, whether it's a suspension bridge, a wedding cake or a citrus crop.

Attracting my attention recently were two items concerning things

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE W. LAWTON

The First Baptist Church in Pahokee was the scene September 6, of the marriage of Miss Rebecca Grimes to George W. Lawton. Rev. Guthrie Colvard, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Pahokee, officiated. The couple are making their home in Minneapolis, Minnesota after a short wedding trip.

believed to be the largest of their kind in the world. One is a controlled atmosphere (CA) storage facility for apples, and the other is a greenhouse.

The apple warehouse has been built for a Pennsylvania orchard cooperative. It has 12 storage rooms, each with 30,000-bushel capacity, to accommodate more than 2 per cent of the state's total crop.

I've mentioned previously how wonderfully this new type of storage preserves some fruits in their fresh state for much longer periods than ever before accomplished.

In the Pennsylvania plant, oxygen in the storage rooms is held at less than 5 per cent, carbon dioxide below 3 per cent and temperature at a constant 31 degrees Fahrenheit.

Incidentally, you don't just open the door and walk into one of these CA storage rooms as you would into a refrigerator. Unless sufficient time is given for the air to get back to normal, you'd pass out for lack of oxygen.

Second in the "largest" category is the greenhouse of an Indiana firm. At Terre Haute the J. W. Davis Co. recently celebrated its 50th anniversary. It claims to have the largest vegetable greenhouse in the world—35 acres under glass.

How do you suppose such an operation comes through one of those mid-Western storms that bombards the countryside with hailstones as big as golf balls?

Fellowship Supper Pahokee Methodists

A fellowship supper was held by members of the Pahokee First Methodist Church honoring Dr. S. Bozeman, superintendent of the West Palm Beach District of Methodist Churches, and Mrs. John Zimmerman and children who expect to leave soon to join Mr. Zimmerman at Taipei, Taiwan. Following the supper, Dr. Bozeman conducted the evening worship services and held the first quarterly conference.

Rev. and Mrs. Guthrie Colvard returned from Avon Park Saturday where they had been attending a conference for associational Training Union officers of the South Florida area.

prices for consumers. They said also it would violate an agreement on allocation of the U. S. market worked out in the 1962 Sugar Act, and that it would harm this country's relations with friendly nations which depend on sugar for sales here.

Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, chief sponsor of the amendment, said it would mean a 10 per cent increase in the allotment for American beet sugar producers and more than 20 per cent for cane growers.

But this is only a small part of the excess sugar produced in this country at the government's request because of the shortage a year ago, he said.

The amendment also would extend for six months quotas for foreign countries contained in the 1962 law. These expire on Dec. 21 this year.

Bennett contended it is necessary for the Senate to act by way of an amendment to a House-passed bill because Chairman Harold D. Cooley, D-N.C., of the House Agriculture Committee, has refused to get a bill out of his committee.
